Participant Eligibility

Ancestry

Participants must identify as Indigenous, including Metis, First Nations or Inuit

Age Categories

Students enrolled in grades 7 through 12 are eligible to participate. Winners will be selected in each of the age categories below for each gender (male and female):

- 13U: Ages 11-13
- 16U: Ages 14-16
- 19U: Ages 17-19

*age categories are based on participants age as of May 14, 2021.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

We encourage Physical Education Specialists to engage their entire classes in these events, not only those of Indigenous ancestry. However, please only submit results for those who identify as Metis, First Nations or Inuit.

History of Fox Tails

Foxtails were played with by most Indigenous Communities over the years. The original Foxtail as a toy/tool was created with leather, and by stuffing the end with grass, hair or even dried poop! When the player became more advanced and accurate in throwing the foxtail, they would add a stone at the end to hunt small game¹.

Event Setup

- This event can be held with all age categories/genders at once, or separately, whatever is easiest for you. Remember to score each age category and gender separately.
- Competition can be held indoors, or outdoors
- Mark the boundary line
- Set up 10 targets at the variety of distances from the boundary line (outlined distances below in the “Scoring” section)

Equipment Setup

Materials for making your contemporary Foxtails:

- Pantyhose
- Balloon
- Rice (short grain)
- Plastic water bottle
- Funnel
- Scissors

How to make your Foxtail:

- Fill your balloon with rice until it fits in the palm of your hand (approximately 1.5 inches)
- Suck the air out of the balloon (don't inhale the rice!) so it looks like a brain
- Twist the balloon 3-4 times to stop air from entering
- Fold the flap of the balloon over the ball until it wraps the ball inside
- Cut the legs off the pantyhose
- Take your rice ball and put it into the foot of a pantyhose
- Twist and tie a knot in the pantyhose to secure the ball in place

More detailed instructions on how to build your foxtails will be provided as the Games approach!

*We encourage you to engage the students in making their own foxtails!

Event Participation

The MIG 2021 Fox Tails & Targets competition will consist of both male and female events for 13U, 16U, and 19U age categories. There is an unlimited amount of participants in each category and gender (male/female).

Equipment

- Variety of targets (bowling pins, light pylons, whatever you have!)
- Bucket full of Foxtails (25 foxtails per bucket)
- Tape Measure
- Stop Watch
- Something to mark baseline

Competition Format

- Timed event
- Participants will have a maximum of 30 seconds to hit as many targets as they can
- Have access to 1 bucket full of foxtails, approximately 25 foxtails
 - If they run out of foxtails within the 30 seconds, the turn is over
- If they hit all the targets before their time is up, the turn is over

Competition Rules

- Maximum of 30 seconds to get as many points as you can
- Maximum of 1 bucket of foxtails per participants turn (25 foxtails)
- Foftails can only be thrown by the tail, not by the ball
- Target must be clearly hit (does not need to be knocked over) to count for points
- Participant may move left to right along the baseline, but may not pass the baseline

Scoring

- Collect as many points as you can by hitting the targets by throwing the foxtails
- If the participant hits all of the targets during their turn, they get 10 bonus points
 - They can keep going until the time is up
- Scoring is as follows:
 - A-C (Diamonds) 10 points each
 - D-F (Triangles) 15 points each
 - G-I (Circles) 20 points
 - J (Square) 25 points

Tie Breaking Rules

School/Group Level
